From Your loving Husband Kyle & Children Khaleem & Khayla Marie

It's been 40 days since you physically left us.
The weight of your absence is profound, each day marked by a mixture of memories and moments of quiet reflection.
Your presence is still felt in your home, in the echoes of shared laughter and in the spaces you once filled with warmth.
Grieving is a journey, and each day brings both challenges and small steps towards healing. We hold on to the love you shared and find solace in the cherished memories we created together.
You were here for a moment but we love you for a lifetime.
